

Challenges After Jail

SERVICES IN THURSTON COUNTY

A Justice NOT JAILS Forum

These slides were presented at a web forum on April 26, 2022 to educate the public about behavioral health and other services available to people after they have been released from jail. These services are critical to helping people recover their lives after being involved with the justice system.

Background— Behavioral Health Needs in Criminal Legal System

Individuals with behavioral health needs are overrepresented in the criminal legal system...

- Washington Department of Social and Health Services (2016): Over half (58%) of Medicaid enrollees booked into jail have mental health treatments needs, 61% have substance use disorder treatment needs and 41% have indicators of co-occurring behavioral health disorders.
- U.S Department of Justice Programs/ Bureau of Justice Statistics (2017): 44% of jail inmates have a mental health disorder.
- Urban Institute (2015): An estimated 56% of state prisoners, 45% of federal prisoners, and 64% of jail inmates have a mental health condition.

These figures are likely at least 3x higher than rates of behavioral health concerns in general population.

Widely used conceptual framework adopted by Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)

- People move through the criminal legal system in predictable pathways
- At each stage, there should be mechanisms in place to identify and intercept people with behavioral health needs and divert them to treatment wherever possible

Sequential Intercept Model

Tonight's focus: Intercepts 0-1

- What resources are available to connect individuals with behavioral health needs with services before they are arrested/ booked?
